The Hesitation of Congress Operating as a Cheek to Business.

Extreme Dulness in the Wall Street Markets.

The Requirements of the Situation.

CURRENT VALUES.

WALL STREET, TUESDAY, Feb. 24-6 P. M. The local situation on the street to-day was without special interest, except such as may be supposed to have grown out of the arrest of McKay, the gushing gentleman who had so much to say about the late flagrant and impudent forgery upon the New York Stock Exchange. That this was very little is evidenced in the fact that even the question of his guilt or innocence, as a principal or accessory, was scareely canvassed. Wall street accepted his arrest as

SOMETHING THE GOVERNING COMMITTEE OUGHT TO but with scarcely any other feeling, and certainly without the expectation that it would produce any developments. During the day it was currently reported that at least one member of the Stock Exchange would be arrested as an accomplice in this matter, but the sun set upon Broad treet without photographing any such scene. The fact is, the average intelligence of the street conceives that McKay's free and easy revelations are incompatible with guilt, or such guilt as is capable of proof. They pay the criminal the compliment of believing that he was too sware to inform on himself, and this, if McKay be guilty, is precisely what he has done. Outside of

THIS VERY LIMITED SENSATION the markets were wholly without interest. The Anancial problem now before Congress and the estible solution which that body may make of it, with the uncertainty recognized as belonging to the major Congressional inexpert knowledge of the subject in its reference to general principles, operates to produce dulness pending determinate action. That Congress is endeavoring, in so far as its understanding and appreciation goes, to interpret the popular wish on the subject, it is purely factions to deny. We may not have a Senate and House of Representatives of intellectual giants, but we have a body that reflects the average intelligence, understanding and purpose of the constincies which the different members represent. It were to attack republican institutions at their very source to assume a contrary proposition as having a true foundation in fact and to say that the people are no longer capable of self-government, but in the future must be governed.

An understanding observation at the present time would discount the addition of the $44,000,000 reserve to the permanent circulation of the country as almost certain to eventuate out of the present confusion, it for no other reason than that being aiready out to the extent of over $25,000,000 it could not be readily called in again, and the present current revenue receipts promise that the necessities of the government will require a further addition to that increased circulation. It is shrewdly hinted that much of the present dulness on the street arises from the disposition on the part of large operators to keep aloof from the market, in order to provoke Congress to legalize the issue of the $44,000,000 as a necessity to the awakening of new industrial enterprise, Wall street being supposed to be the barometer of all business activity. Be this as it may, it would be well for those

CAUTIOUS THEORISTS who oppose such legalization to reflect upon the danger which would result from contraction in our present condition of early convalescence after such a prostrating shock as that of the recent TUFSDAY, Feb. 24-6 P. M.

The markets were generally quiet to-day; but there was, nevertneless, considerable activity in certain departments. On 'Change the markets were very irregular. Flour was dull. Wheat was dail, unsettled and decidedly lower. The receipts were heavy, while the advices-private and public-from abroad were of an uniavorable character the markets being lower and the limits reduced. Corn was still in fair request and brought full prices for all kinds. Oats were steady, with moderate demand. Whiskey was unchanged. Pork was quiet, without decided change in prices. Lard was dull and lower. Groceries were quiet and easy, the market closing weak, particularly for coffee and sugar. Freights were quiet and rates not materially changed. Petroleum was held with renewed confidence, but the market was inactive and values to an extent nominal. Spirits of turpentine was dult. White rosin met with a moderate demand and the market rated steadier. Metals were inactive, hast India goods were quiet but firm. Wool was firm but the

The court martial which was ordered to assemble for the trial of Colonel A. Stauff, Ninety-sixth regiment, N.G.S.N.Y., of which Brigadier General Ward is President, was to have met yesterday evening at five o'clock, in order to proceed with the duty for which the court has been dewith the duty for which the court has been detailed. All the members excepting the President were present at the hour appointed. General Ward, however, neither put in an appearance nor sent any explanation to his brother officers to account for his absence. The several members of the court waited until after six o'clock, in order to give the missing President a chance to report as a straggler who had been absent without leave, but, seeing that there was no probability of his joining them, the court organized temporarily, with Colonel Vilmar in the chair. After consultation among the members with the Judge Advocate, it was agreed to adjourn till next Monday night, 2d of March, at six o'clock P. M. There were some parties present who thought that the officers serving on the court exceeded their duty in declaring it in session during the absence of the President. Last night was the third time for this court to adjourn without doing anything—once at the request of the accused officer, once on account of sickness of the Judge Advocate, and last night because of the President's absence.

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.

The Natal Rebellion "Stamped Out"-A Warrior Chief in Chains.

By way of England we have news from the Cape of Good Hope, dated at Cape Town on the 6th of

January:—
The news from the Leydenburg gold fields is encouraging. Mr. Buckman, Attorney General of the Transvan, states that he saw twenty-three nuggets, weighing together threen pounds and a half, which had been found by three men in one day.

The Natal outbreak has been brought to a close by the capture of the rebel chief Lulagaleballele, his five sons, three conneillors and 5,000 head of cattle. Lulagaleballele, his sons and councillors were handcuited together.
